

COORDINATION EFFORTS

Less than half of the organizations responding to the question, "Are your agency's transportation services coordinated with other transportation providers in your area?" indicated that they provide no coordinated transportation services. It should be noted that in some rural areas of the State, there are few, if any, opportunities to coordinate transportation services because of the small number of transportation providers.

How agencies are involved in coordination activities is reflected in the following chart:

All agencies were asked to give opinions as to the barriers to coordination. Of those responding, the following chart indicates reasons for not coordinating.
